

How to Create an Apple Developer Account

According to the new Apple policy, you must create your own Apple Developer Account in order to publish or republish your app. The map2app account will no longer be available for use from January 2018.

Choose the right account type

The price for the Apple Developer Program is $99 per year and will be paid directly to Apple. The account must be active at the time of publication or republication. This does not mean that the App will be removed from the store once it has expired, it simply has to be activated or reactivated whenever you want to re-publish it.

Prerequisite

STEP 1 -

You must have an Apple ID to complete the procedure, if you already have one use it, otherwise you will have to create one on appleid.apple.com/account

Registration

STEP 2-

If you need further information go to the website
<https://developer.apple.com/programs/>

otherwise go to <https://developer.apple.com/programs/enroll/> where the description will explain to you that you have two options:

Register as a person.

The registration of this account is faster but you should be aware that your name will appear as "seller" in the App Store description.

or

Register as a company/organisation.

In this case the name that will appear in the store will be the name of the company.

The procedure is a bit longer, it requires that your company has a D-U-N-S Number. The "D&B Data Universal Numbering System" is a system developed by Dun & Bradstreet (D&B, a multinational company specialized in providing business information on a global level) that allows the unambiguous identification of all the world companies available in the D&B database. If you already have this number, you will not need to make any special requests, if you do not have one, you should request it directly via the Apple procedure that provides this service free of charge (source December 2017)

Step 3 -

Now click again on "Start your enrollment".

Start Your Enrollment

Then log in with your Apple ID account.

Step 4 -

In the screen you will be asked if you want to register as ""enrolling as an individual or organization" (see step 2)

Please fill in all the necessary fields and tick the box to give your consent to the Apple Developer Program License Agreement.

You will then have to complete the registration with the payment. Choose the one that best suits your needs and continue.

If you have completed all the steps correctly, you will receive an email confirming your order along with the verification of your email address.

Once you've finished, you can access your Developer account at this link : itunesconnect.apple.com

STEP 5 - THE END

To allow us to use your account to publish the App on the store, you will need to give us your login data.

These log-in information will not allow us to access your credit card. If you would like a higher level of security, you can temporarily change your password and only provide it when you publish and/or republish.

However, remember that we need the login information, if we do not have access you cannot request publication or republication even if you have already paid for the Map2App service. Requests for refund of the amount paid to WeAGoo s.r.l. will not be accepted if the Apple account has expired or we do not have access to it.
